SKED-Funded Building for Sale in Russell County

Interior and exterior images of Russell County IDA speculative building are pictured.

The Russell County Industrial Development Authority (IDA) has a 43,750 square-foot speculative building for sale. The building is located in French Valley Business Park, located between Jamestown and Russell Springs. SKED worked with the IDA to construct the building using its Business and Technology Building Revolving Loan Fund.

"SKED and the Kentucky Economic Development Finance Authority (KEDFA) made it possible for us to build the building. The rate and term of the SKED loan were very good and SKED is assisting us in marketing the building. It's a beautiful facility, and we hope to have a tenant employing some of our region's workforce very soon."
